Who we are

Lawrence Stephens is a London-based law firm operating in a global market. Many of our clients are based overseas and our assignments often have an international component.

Whether you are seeking to invest in the UK, expand overseas, or are addressing cross-jurisdictional challenges, our lawyers can support international clients seeking English legal advice, as well as domestic clients requiring advice in other jurisdictions. We lead the 'The European Lawyers Group' who's mission is to provide the best legal representation and advice throughout Europe and around the world. The European Lawyers Group represents a carefully chosen selection of competent and experienced law firms. Within our own diverse team (20+ Languages spoken) we offer wide-ranging legal capability to support international clients in the UK, Cyprus and beyond.

We advise entrepreneurial, fast-growing businesses, often founder-led, privately-owned, or backed by private equity, including challenger banks and similar institutions. Clients value our practical, commercial advice and our deep understanding of their goals. We also support larger corporates on specialist legal matters, offering a more personal and open alternative to larger firms. In addition to our strong business law expertise, our private wealth team provides tailored, discreet services for clients with significant assets and the needs associated with these.

The sectors we operate in

Our clients operate in complex, fast-moving industries.

That's why we structure our services around them, not just around legal disciplines. Each sector we serve is backed by multidisciplinary collaboration, ensuring that no matter the challenge, our clients benefit from a unified team that understands their world and works as one to protect and advance their interests.

Owner-Managed Businesses  Retail and Hospitality

"The firm has carved out a sweet spot acting for SMEs and owner-managed businesses, as well as having a nice line acting for financial institutions, especially challenger banks. A sports team that has worked on some high-profile matters such as Harry Kane's transfer to Bayern Munich also adds a touch of stardust."
