BUSINESS INDUSTRIES

No matter how you define success, our team of experienced executives work with you to identify your needs and achieve the best possible outcome for you and your business.

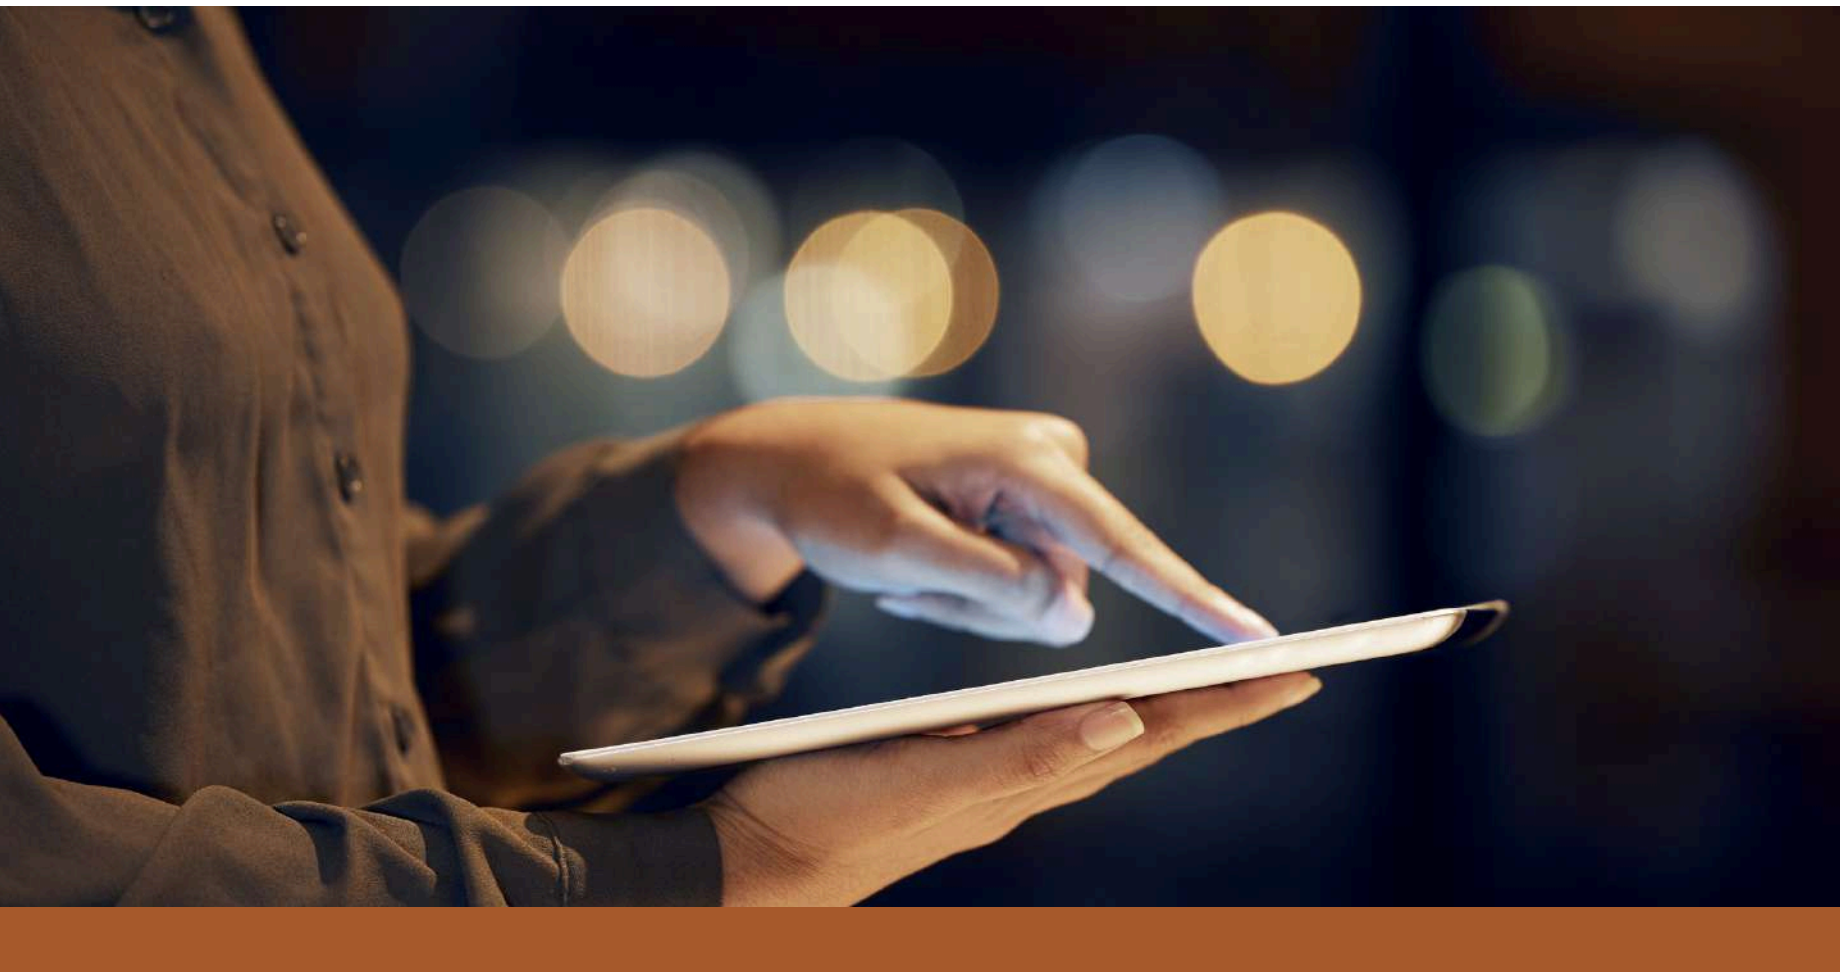

BUSINESS

INDUSTRIES

No matter how you define success, our team of experienced executives work with you to identify your needs and achieve the best possible outcome for you and your business.

Business Sectors

No matter how you define success, our team of experienced executives work with you to identify your needs and achieve the best possible outcome for you and your business.

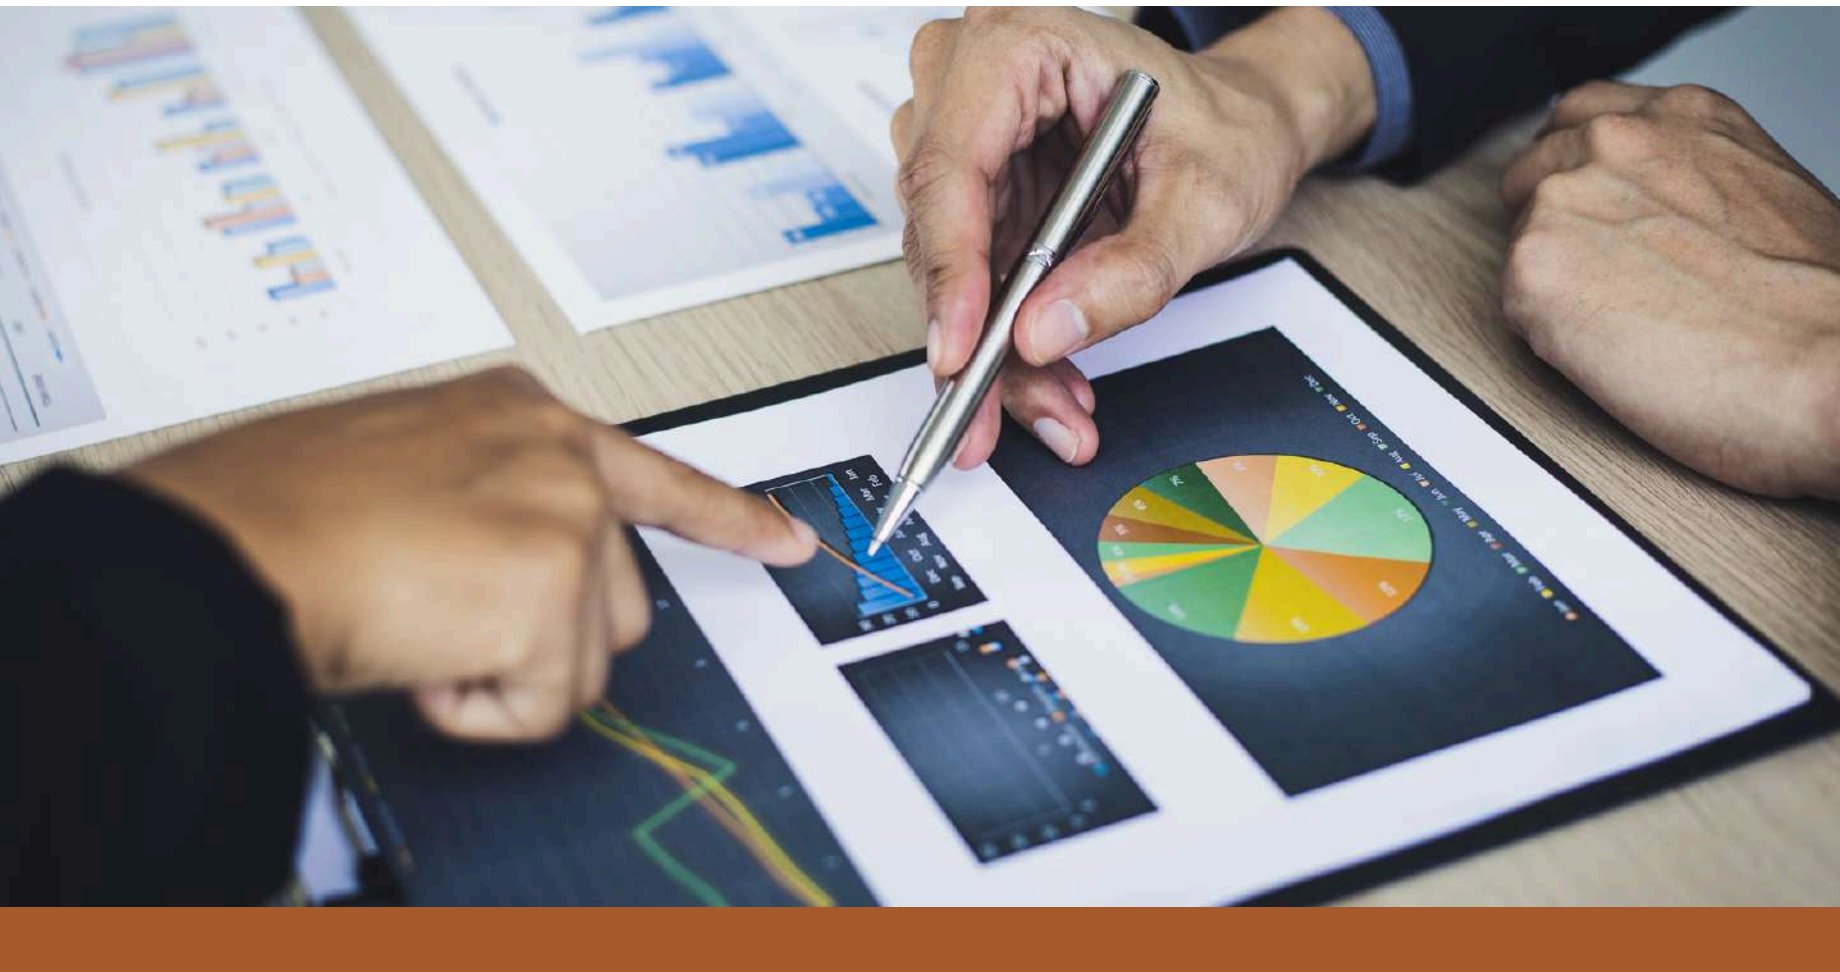

SHIPPING

Companies navigate a series of regulatory changes and international conventions. But navigating the existing legal landscape is not enough.

They must be proactive in understanding potential changes and ensure their interests are represented as new legislation and regulations are considered.

We understand the interaction between law and policy and help position clients before political regulatory agencies to achieve their goals.

Business Sectors

No matter how you define success, our team of experienced executives work with you to identify your needs and achieve the best possible outcome for you and your business.

HEALTH

Our practice includes a wide range of issues including regulatory compliance, crisis response, legislative and policy advocacy, fraud and abuse, financial and labor restructuring, image and marketing.

Our executives combine legal, public policy, scientific and technical expertise to develop and implement strategies that help our clients, including Hospitals and Medical Centers, Pharmaceutical Companies, Medical Device Manufacturers, Healthcare Providers, Professional Associations and Patient Groups.

Business Sectors

No matter how you define success, our team of experienced executives work with you to identify your needs and achieve the best possible outcome for you and your business.

ENERGY AND ENVIRONMENT

Energy and environmental policy have occupied an ever-increasing portion of government activity, from comprehensive energy legislation to the plethora of environmental and energy-related regulations emanating from the executive and legislative branches.

We can undertake everything from securing contracts to lobbying government bodies.

We also help our clients deploy capital globally across the energy and infrastructure sector.

Business Sectors

No matter how you define success, our team of experienced executives work with you to identify your needs and achieve the best possible outcome for you and your business.

REAL ESTATE | CONSTRUCTION

Our executives advise on complex financing, acquisition, disposal and development of real estate around the world.

The industry today encompasses everything from acquisition and disposal, construction and development to environmental regulation and beyond - and often requires strong partnerships with surrounding communities, as well as state governments and municipal entities.

We turn your real estate goals into reality. From apartments, offices and shopping centers to large-scale detached houses and apartment buildings.

Business Sectors

No matter how you define success, our team of experienced executives work with you to identify your needs and achieve the best possible outcome for you and your business.

EDUCATION

Educational institutions, (universities, colleges and educational service providers), are under increasing scrutiny and often face a myriad of challenges, including legal risk, business challenges and public policy and image issues locally and internationally.

Our executives can handle highly sensitive matters involving policy, marketing, internal investigations and high-risk litigation, as well as concerns related to research, cyber security and data privacy, and more.
